Best Weekly of its Section. Established 1865.

Our Southern Home.

W. H. Lawrence, Editor.

Livingston, Ala., March 18 1922

To Department of Archives & History

It has been my pleasure to know Mrs. E. C. Clanahan, her splendid son, Clarence Wilburn Clanahan and daughter Elma since 1906. The mother a consecrated christian, came to Livingston to complete her education and educate her two children at the Alabama Normal College. They all three stood well and graduated with honors. The untiring and loving efforts of the mother, who was a widow, made it possible for her children to have the opportunity to get an education. Her strong christian character made its impress upon the lives of her son and daughter, who were well trained to be of service to the world and glorify their maker.

Clarence Wilburn Clanahan, the son made the supreme sacrifice in the World's War.

Emily Reid Lawrence
A Livingston friend