Historical Context

The state legislature established the Board in 1978 to examine and license heating and air conditioning contractors and to supervise the profession and practice of heating and air conditioning contracting. The profession was not regulated prior to the creation of the Board. The legislature continued the existence of the Board of Heating, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Contractors following sunset reviews in 1984, 1986, 1988, 1992, 1996, and 1999 and continues such reviews every four years.

Agency Organization

The Board has twelve (12) members consisting of six (6) certified heating and air conditioning contractors, one (1) mechanical engineer, one (1) trade representative of equipment manufacturer or supplier, one (1) trade representative of service or repair parts industry, one (1) representative of a county or local inspection services department, and two (2) consumers from the public at large. The members, appointed by the governor (4), the lieutenant governor (3), the speaker of the House of Representatives (4), and the president pro-tempore of the Senate (1), serve four-year staggered terms. The Senate must confirm each appointment to the Board. The Board, which meets at least quarterly, elects a chairman and a secretary from its members. The Board may hire an executive director and necessary personnel.

Agency Function and Subfunctions

The mandated function of the Board of Heating, Air Conditioning, and Refrigeration Contractors is to examine and license applicants as heating and air conditioning contractors and/or refrigeration contractors and to supervise the profession and practices of heating and air conditioning contracting and refrigeration contracting. The Board is one of the agencies primarily involved in carrying out the Regulatory function of Alabama government. In the performance of its mandated function, the Board may engage in the following subfunctions:

- Promulgating Rules and Regulations. In accordance with the Administrative Procedures Act (Code of Alabama 1975, Section 41-22-3), the Board has the authority to prescribe rules and regulations for certification in, and the practice of, heating and air conditioning contracting. The Board also develops appropriate procedures or techniques for the implementation of the rules and regulations. This subfunction encompasses activities pertaining to the establishment and promulgation of rules, regulations, and procedures by the Board for carrying out its duties and responsibilities. The Board is authorized to adopt and publish minimum repair and service standards for its certified contractors (Code of Alabama 1975, Section 34-31-21 [g]).
- Certifying. Individuals, partnerships, and/or corporations wishing to perform contract heating and air conditioning installations in the state must be certified by the Board. Prior to certification, applicants must take a written exam that tests the knowledge, skill, and proficiency of the applicants in safety, basic heating and air conditioning theory, refrigeration as applied to air conditioning, diagnostic trouble shooting, repair or service of heating and air conditioning systems, air handling, standard mechanical codes, standard gas codes, standard electrical codes, equipment installations, and duct sizing as they relate to heating and air conditioning. Pursuant to Section 34-31-29 (b), Code of Alabama 1975, at least once every three months, the Board gives an exam, which is created and graded by the national firm of Psychological Services Incorporated (PSI), LLC. The Board charges a fee for administering the examination. Any applicant failing to pass the exam may retake the written exam or, upon request by the applicant, a practical examination that is equivalent to the written examination, within six months from the date of the latest unsuccessful examination. Gadsden State Community College creates and administers this examination. Everyone applying to the Board for licensing must provide a performance bond of $15,000.00 pursuant to Section 34-31-30, Code of Alabama 1975. All certification licenses are renewable annually. Effective August 1, 2009, a new law requires that all contractors must earn four (4) hours of continuing education every year to maintain their licenses (both active and inactive) in the state. The Board may remove certification from anyone who fails to renew certification by March 1 and may require the person to reapply. Anyone certified by the Board may elect inactive status by notifying the Board. The Board publishes annually a list of names of all individuals who are certified by the Board.
- Regulating. The Board has statutory authority to regulate heating, air conditioning, and refrigeration service, installation, and repair in the State of Alabama. When a consumer complaint is filed with the Board, the contractor is notified of the complaint and has 20 days to respond to the allegations. If the problem remains unresolved, the Board may send an investigator to inspect the system for minimum standard violations. If the inspection reveals such violations, the contractor is notified by letter of these violations.

Based on the violations found, the Board may impose administrative sanctions against the contractor. Possible sanctions include a revocation hearing, fine, or suspension of the contractor's certification. All certified contractors are required to maintain a $15,000.00 performance bond with the Board in the event substandard installation, service, or repair work is performed.

- Administering Internal Operations. A significant portion of the agency's activities include general administrative, financial, and personnel activities geared toward the internal functioning of the agency. These administrative duties are grouped together under the subfunction Administering Internal Operations. Administering Internal Operations includes the following groups of activities:

Managing the Agency: Activities include internal office management activities common to most government agencies such as corresponding and communicating; scheduling; meeting; documenting policy and procedures; reporting; litigating; drafting, promoting, or tracking legislation; publicizing and providing information; managing records; and managing information systems and technology.

Managing Finances: Activities include budgeting (preparing and reviewing a budget package, submitting the budget package to the state Finance Department; documenting amendments and performance of the budget); purchasing (requisitioning and purchasing supplies and equipment, receipting and invoicing for goods, and authorizing payment for products received); accounting for the expenditure, encumbrance, disbursement, and reconciliation of funds within the agency's budget through a uniform system of accounting and reporting; authorizing travel; contracting with companies or individuals; bidding for products and services; assisting in the audit process; investing; and issuing bonds.

Managing Human Resources: Activities include recruiting and hiring eligible individuals to fill positions within the agency; providing compensation to employees; providing benefits to employees, such as leave, health insurance, unemployment compensation, worker's compensation, injury compensation, retirement, and death benefits; supervising employees by evaluating performance, promoting, granting leave, and monitoring the accumulation of leave; training and providing continuing education for employees; and disciplining.

Managing Properties, Facilities, and Resources: Activities include: inventorying and accounting for non-consumable property and reporting property information to the appropriate authority; constructing buildings and facilities; leasing and/or renting offices or facilities; providing security for property owned by the agency; insuring property; and assigning, inspecting and maintaining agency property, including vehicles.

Analysis of Record Keeping System and Records Appraisal of the Board of Heating, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Contractors

Agency Record Keeping System

The Board of Heating, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Contractors operates a hybrid system composed of a computer system and paper record-keeping.

Paper-based System

The Board continues to maintain most of its records in paper form. Currently, no records are stored off-site.

Computer System

The Information Services Division (ISD) of the Department of Finance maintains the Board's database, known as Access, on the ISD server. ISD staff is responsible for all back-ups and updates to Access. The Access database contains the contractors' information related to licensing for heating/air conditioning and refrigeration to include contact information, certification number, performance bond information, and continuing education credits. The Access system is also used to assign a complaint number for tracking purposes for complaints received from consumers.

Records Appraisal of the Board of Heating, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Contractors

The following is a discussion of the two major categories of records created and/or maintained by the Board of Heating, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Contractors: Temporary Records and Permanent Records.

I. Temporary Records. Temporary records should be held for what is considered their active life and be disposed of once all fiscal, legal, and administrative requirements have been met. Some of the temporary records created by the Board of Heating, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Contractors are discussed below.

- Heating and Air Conditioning and/or Refrigeration Apprenticeship Registration Files. These files are created when an applicant applies to become a heating and air conditioning and/or refrigeration apprentice. Once the application is received by the Board office, a registration is created for the individual applicant. The Board will keep the file until the apprentice meets the requirements to take the test for certification or as long as the applicant renews the apprentice registration. Once the apprentice does not renew the registration or apply for licensure, the file will then be maintained for one audit cycle before destruction.

- Certified Contractor Files. When an applicant becomes certified, the Board creates a file for the individual. The file is used for reference by the Board. After the licensee becomes inactive, the file becomes less useful. If necessary, documentation of someone being certified can be found in the minutes of the Board and the licensing certificate/control number file. Because of the administrative needs of the agency, the agency recommends a retention of three (3) years after certification has expired.
- Returned or Blank Certified Contractor Cards. After meeting the statutory requirements for licensing, a wallet-size card is issued to the contractor as evidence of current certification by the Board. Each card should be presented to public officials as proof of certification. Cards may be returned because of a change of business /address. All voided cards must be kept until after the audit period for which the cards were issued. Blank cards must be kept until the end of the calendar year in which the cards would have been issued.
- Examination Files. The Board maintains files of applicants who have taken the exam, but have not been certified. If an applicant is certified, their examination file becomes a certified contractor file and follows that disposition of 3 years after becoming inactive. Examination files are to be retained until the completion of an audit.
- Business Information Files. When an applicant becomes a certified contractor, the Board creates a Business Information File for the company with which the individual is employed. This series consists of the original performance bond in the amount of $15,000, the original Power of Attorney, and other pertinent business information. Information is routinely given to consumers who request bonding information pursuant to a complaint on a contractor for violation of minimum standards. The file is usually used for reference in connection with a complaint. The Board recommends a retention of 5 years after the closure of business.
- Complaint Files. Complaint files are created after a complaint is made. The Board investigates the complaint and decides if it is founded or unfounded (is there probable cause). If the complaint is founded, the licensee is contacted. The Board offers a settlement to close the complaint. If the matter is settled to the Board's satisfaction, no further action is taken. If no settlement is reached, the Board holds a hearing. The documentation of any complaint and its settlement are filed in the complaint files. The Board uses these files to ensure that licensees follow the terms of settlements and hearing decisions and to protect the public from repeat offenders. The agency recommends a retention of 5 years after closure of the complaint.

- Administrative Hearing Files. If no settlement is reached during an investigation, the Board holds a hearing. The Board hears testimony and votes as to what action will be taken. The outcome is documented in the minutes of the Board. The agency recommends a retention of 5 years after closure.

II. Permanent Records. The Government Records Division recommends the following records as permanent.

Promulgating Rules and Regulations

- Meeting Agendas, Minutes, and Packets of the Board. The meeting minutes of the Board document the decisions and actions of the Board including the approval or denial of requests for certification. These records provide important information and documentation of the Board’s actions that may not be found elsewhere. (Bibliographic Title: Meeting Agendas, Minutes, and Packets)

Certifying

- Annual Rosters. Code of Alabama, Section 34-31-31 mandates the Board to “publish annually a list of names, and addresses of all individuals and the names of their employer, if applicable, who are certified.” The annual roster also contains updated Board rules and regulations. The roster provides easy reference to the staff, as well as to other licensees and the public. (Bibliographic Title: Annual Rosters)
- Quarterly Newsletters. In 2001, the Board began publishing a quarterly newsletter which serves to communicate with all licensees. Information generally includes new rules, rule changes, certified contractor test dates, complaints highlights, and approved continuing education providers (Bibliographic Title: Newsletters)

Administering Internal Operations

- Website. The Board maintains a website via ISD at: www.hacr.alabama.gov. Information available includes Board members, staff directory, laws and rules of the Board, consumer complaint form, searchable contractor database, licensure procedure, and application forms. The website is a medium of communication with the public and a tool in the operation of the Board. The permanent retention ensures that documentation of the changes in the Board website over time are preserved. (Bibliographic Title: Website)

Board of Heating, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Contractors General Records Disposition Authority

This Records Disposition Authority (RDA) is issued by the State Records Commission under the authority granted by the Code of Alabama 1975, Sections 41-13-5 and 41-13-20 through 21. It was compiled by the Government Records Division, Alabama Department of Archives and History (ADAH), which serves as the commission's staff in cooperation with representatives of the Board of Heating, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Contractors. The RDA lists records created and maintained by the Board of Heating, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Contractors in carrying out its mandated functions and activities. It establishes retention periods and disposition instructions for those records and provides the legal authority for the Board of Heating, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Contractors to implement records destruction.

Alabama law requires public officials to create and maintain records that document the business of their offices. These records must be protected from "mutilation, loss, or destruction," so that they may be transferred to an official's successor in office and made available to members of the public. Records must also be kept in accordance with auditing standards approved by the Examiners of Public Accounts (Code of Alabama 1975, Sections 36-12-2, 36-12-4, and 41-523). For assistance in implementing this RDA, or for advice on records disposition or other records management concerns, contact the ADAH Government Records Division at (334) 242-4452.

Explanation of Records Requirements

This RDA supersedes any previous records disposition schedules governing the retention of the Board of Heating, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Contractors records. Copies of superseded schedules or/and RDAs are no longer valid and should be discarded.

This RDA shall govern the disposition of all records, regardless of format, created by the agency from its creation to dissolution.

The RDA establishes retention and disposition instructions for records listed below, regardless of the medium on which those records may be kept. Electronic mail, for example, is a communications tool that may record permanent or temporary information. As for records in any other format, the retention periods for e-mail records are governed by the requirements of the subfunctions to which the records belong.

Some temporary records listed under the Administering Internal Operations subfunction of this RDA represent duplicate copies of records listed for long-term or permanent retention in the RDAs of other agencies.

Certain records and records-related materials need not be retained as records under the disposition requirements in this RDA. Such materials include: (1) duplicate record copies that do not require official action, so long as the creating office maintains the original record for the period required; (2) catalogs, trade journals, and other publications received that require no action and do not document government activities; (3) stocks of blank stationery, blank forms, or other surplus materials that are not subject to audit and have become obsolete; (4) transitory records, which are temporary records created for short-term, internal purposes that may include, but are not limited to, telephone call-back messages, drafts of ordinary documents not needed for their evidential value, copies of material sent for information purposes but not needed by the receiving office for future business, and internal communications about social activities. They may be disposed of without documentation of destruction.

Records Disposition Requirements

This section of the RDA is arranged by subfunctions of the Board of Heating, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Contractors and lists the groups of records created and/or maintained by the Board as a result of activities and transactions performed in carrying out these subfunctions. The Board may submit requests to revise specific records disposition requirements to the State Records Commission for consideration at its regular quarterly meetings.

Requirement and Recommendations for Implementing the Records Disposition Authority

Under the Code of Alabama 1975, Section 41-13-21, “no state officer or agency head shall cause any state record to be destroyed or otherwise disposed of without first obtaining approval of the State Records Commission.” This Records Disposition Authority constitutes authorization by the State Records Commission for the disposition of the records of the Board of Heating, Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Contractors (hereafter referred to as the agency) as stipulated in this document. One condition of this authorization is that the agency submit an annual Records Disposition Authority (RDA) Implementation Report on agency records management activities, including documentation of records destruction, to the State Records Commission in October of each year. In addition, the agency should make every effort to establish and maintain a quality record-keeping program through the following activities:

The agency should designate a records liaison, who is responsible for: ensuring the development of quality record keeping systems that meet the business and legal needs of the agency, coordinating the transfer and destruction of records, ensuring that permanent records held on alternative storage media (such as microforms and digital imaging systems) are maintained in compliance with national and state standards, and ensuring the regular implementation of the agency’s approved RDA.

Permanent records in the agency’s custody should be maintained under proper intellectual control and in an environment that will ensure their physical order and preservation.

Destruction of temporary records, as authorized in this RDA, should occur agency-wide on a regular basis—for example, after the successful completion of an audit, at the end of an administration, or at the end of a fiscal year. Despite the RDA’s provisions, no record should be destroyed that is necessary to comply with requirements of the state Sunset Act, audit requirements, or any legal notice or subpoena.

The agency should maintain full documentation of any computerized record-keeping system it employs. It should develop procedures for: (1) backing up all permanent records held in electronic format; (2) storing a back-up copy off-site; and (3) migrating all permanent records when the system is upgraded or replaced. If the agency chooses to maintain permanent records solely in electronic format, it is committed to funding any system upgrades and migration strategies necessary to ensure the records’ permanent preservation and accessibility.

Electronic mail contain permanent, temporary, or transitory record information. Although e-mail records can be printed out, filed, and retained according to the RDA’s requirements, the division should preferably employ an electronic records management system capable of sorting e-mail into folders and archiving messages having long-term value. The staff of the State Records Commission or the Examiners of Public Accounts may examine the condition of the permanent records maintained in the custody of the agency and inspect records destruction documentation.

Government Records Division archivists are available to instruct the agency staff in RDA implementation and otherwise assist the agency in implementing its records management program.

The State Records Commission adopted this records disposition authority on October 24, 2012.
